

DODSON KILLING USE OF CALOMEL

Says Drug Is Mercury and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver.

Dodson is making a hard fight against calomel in the South. Every druggist has noticed a great failing in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason, Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it; while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no listlessness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.—Adv.

Her "Cheekens."

A charming little French war bride whose husband brought her last year to a home in an Indiana town, received the assessor, this spring, and in her husband's absence from home, endeavored to assist him in filling out his blank. In her broken English, she mentioned the machine, which, in its modern case, the assessor took for a graphophone. After many desperate attempts, she finally opened the case, and let him see for himself that it was a sewing machine. Then he continued down the list, finally inquiring if she had any chickens. "Oh, yes, yes," she replied, nodding, "yes, I have asked the assessor. 'No dozaine, no cheekens.' How many 'dozen'?" "Ten!" she said. "I have just only a lady and her husband."—Indianapolis Star.

All in Good Time.

It was at a children's picnic, and they were playing at farmyard, each youngster pretending to be his or her favorite animal. The woods echoed with grunting, barking and crowing—but one little girl sat silent.

"Why don't you play?" asked one of the teachers.

"Please, miss, I'm playing," she replied.

"What are you, then?"
"Please, miss, I'm a hen, and I'm laying an egg. When I've finished I shall cackle."

"He means well."

"I understand. That's a polite way of calling him a 'boob.'"

FROM REMOTEST PARTS OF GLOBE

Tanlac Elements Come From Many Lands Far Away From Here.

The ingredients from which the celebrated medicine Tanlac is made, come from remote sections of the earth and are transported thousands of miles over land and sea to the great Tanlac Laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, and Walkerville, Canada.

The Alpine Appenines, Pyrenees, Russian Asia, Brazil, West Indies, Rocky Mountains, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Mexico, Columbia, and Peru are among the far away points from which the principal properties of this remarkable preparation are obtained.

What is said to be the largest pharmaceutical laboratory in the United States has been completed at Dayton, Ohio, for the manufacture of Tanlac, which, according to recent reports, is now having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world, over 20,000,000 bottles having been sold in six years.

The new plant occupies 60,000 square feet of floor space and has a daily capacity of 50,000 bottles.

Uniform quality is guaranteed by a series of careful inspections by expert chemists from time to time, the roots, herbs, bark and flowers are received in their rough state from all parts of the globe, until their medicinal properties have been extracted by the most approved processes.

The finished medicine is then bottled, labeled and shipped out to tens of thousands of druggists throughout the United States and Canada to supply a demand never before equalled by this or any other medicine.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

He had always greatly admired the khaki bag in which his wife keeps her clothespins, so he persuaded her to make one for his fishing tackle.

A few days ago he went several miles from home fishing and was just preparing to assemble his line for a good day when he discovered that instead of bringing his fishing tackle kit he had carried out his wife's bag of clothespins.

ASPIRIN

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of the Bayer Manufacture of Monocetacine, Salicylic Acid, etc.

TRACING WHIMS OF FASHION

Each Century Seems to Have Seen Some Change for Which a Reason May Be Adduced.

In the fifteenth century the waistline was discovered, and the pointed idea carried to extreme, says the New York Herald. The women wore tall pointed hats, pointed shoes, and points were introduced in every possible way. At this time the church was strongly in the ascendant and the models of the Madonna served as the inspiration for their costumes. As these little models were carved from ivory tusks, the women followed the sacred model, and the curve of the tusk was also copied in their carriage, giving a slant tilt to the figure, recently called the debonair slouch.

The sixteenth century brought in corsets, the lengthened waistline and the introduction of the full skirt. It was in this period that Catherine de Medici brought in collars, and lace was used in women's costumes for the first time. In the seventeenth century, known as the romantic period, the styles became very frivolous.

Wood Carving With Sand. A process of carving wood by special application of the sand blast is giving highly satisfactory results in California, especially when applied to the redwood of that state. Portions of the surface are covered by protective stencils which leave figures in relief and a uniform background. Very rich effects are produced in paneling the walls of a dining room, hall or screen. While much of the work is done in the natural color of the tree, reddish brown wood staining color effects are obtained for the more solid panels, doors, chair backs, and furniture.

the Greeks

Athene and the Acropolis.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Greece, in carrying on in Asia Minor, against the Turkish Nationalists, what may be called the only major war now in progress, attracts the attention anew to the prolonged presence of the Greeks on the world stage.

There are few parallels to the striking racial phenomenon of Hellenic continuity throughout the vicissitudes of 2,000 years. Modern research has penetrated the dark byways of medieval Greek history, and we now know that the Greeks, whatever their temporary fate, have preserved unbroken the thread of their national existence.

The firmest bond which unites the Greeks of today with their illustrious forebears of the golden age is the Greek language, the essential elements of which remain as they were in the days when the tongue served as the medium of the noblest poetry and the sublimest philosophy which the race has yet produced. This tongue traces its unbroken lineage back through medieval and New Testament Greek to the classic speech of Plato and of his contemporaries.

And yet, with all this continuity of language, there exists now in Greece a linguistic condition of affairs around which centers a controversy at once comic or tragic; for there are in Greece two languages, or, rather, the one language in two forms—one written by the newspapermen, spoken by the educated classes, and used in parliamentary debates and in public documents, including the Scriptures, the circulation of which is regulated by law; and the other a vernacular used by the masses of the people, containing many words of foreign origin, especially Turkish and Italian, arising from those periods of foreign occupation, with a much simplified grammar, reduced to writing, except for private communications. The former is the cultured tongue; the latter is the popular idiom; and between the two there rages a merciless warfare, in which fanatical students of the university have lost their lives, ministers their portfolios, and a Metropolitan of Athens his mitre.

Its Educational Backwardness.

Greece is essentially a land of agriculture, pre-eminently intended to be such, but owing to the tremendous drain by emigration from the rural districts, the progress of agriculture has been painfully deficient. In many places the land is tilled only by women and girls. Many of the men have gone off to America.

Many find the Athenian climate agreeable. Cold winds there are, to be sure, in winter, blowing down from the snow-capped hills above the town or blowing up from the sea at Phaleron, but there are no frosts; the roses bloom during every month of the year; oranges ripen in the open air, one may pick his breakfast fruit from the trees outside his window. The summer heat is easily endurable, the absence of rain removing the humidity which makes American summer so intolerable. One cannot truthfully say that midsummer nights in Athens are really cool, but there is a sensible difference from the heat of the day and a freshness which always makes sleep possible.

At the beginning of the hot season, there is usually an exodus of the court, the diplomats and the wealthy from Athens. To take their places there flock to Athens and to the sea-side hotels at Phaleron and to villas and resorts at Kephisia in the hills.

In this city of old memories and new hopes, Greek life centers now as in its classic days, and here ancient and modern Greece are inextricably mingled in a curious medley of modernity and antiquity, which colors the most ordinary of everyday affairs.

On every hand arise the shattered monuments of its splendid past, and even the tiniest fragments which serve to link the life of the present with the days that are gone are most carefully preserved.

TO GROW SUFFICIENT SILAGE

Dairy Day

TO GROW SUFFICIENT SILAGE

Experts Assert It Is Better to Carefully Figure on Silo to Fit

Herd of Cows.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The planting season is the time when the dairy farmer should arrange to see that he has crops enough to fill his silo. As it is, in point, a Mississippian farmer failed to take this matter into consideration when he bought a silo of 60 tons' capacity, for he found that he had corn and sorghum for only 20 tons of silage; and since, moreover, he had only 8 cows, he decided he had made a mistake, and tried to sell his new silo instead of filling it up.

A field man from the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture, however, persuaded him to keep it until the next year, and to put up a small silo for immediate use. He did so, and found it such a help in feeding his herd to 50 cows, and thus make good use of his larger silo.

Both the height and the diameter of the silo must be considered. The proper diameter of the silo depends upon the quantity of silage to be fed daily, and this quantity will vary with the size of the herd. The silage should be fed out fast enough to remove it from the top of the silo at the rate of 1½ to 3 inches a day, depending upon climatic conditions. The warmer the weather the more silage must be removed from the surface daily in order to prevent spoiling. For the winter feeding season it is safer to figure upon removing 2 inches daily than any smaller amount.

A common error in building is to make the diameter too large for the size of the herd. The weight of a cubic foot of silage varies according to the pressure to which it is subjected, but in a silo 30 feet high the weight per cubic foot averages about 40 pounds. So, by knowing the quantity of silage to be fed daily, it is possible to estimate what the diameter of the silo should be to permit the removal of a certain number of inches each day. The table below shows the proper diameter of the silo, on a basis of 40 pounds of silage per cubic foot,

There must be an stint of labor where labor will tell for our neighbor's happiness, but no wasteful extravagance of it where it will not.

GOOD THINGS FOR LUNCHEON

Now that the fresh mushroom is ready for the gathering let us have:

Cream of Mushroom Soup.—Chop fine one pound of fresh mushrooms and put into a double boiler with one pint of milk. Cook one-half hour and strain.

Add one pint of thin cream when it comes to a boil, season with pepper and salt, add one-fourth of a cupful of butter and chicken with two tablespoonsfuls of flour stirred with a little cold milk. When serving add a spoonful of whipped cream for each cup.

Smothered Chicken.—Cut up the chicken as for frying. Put a tablespoonful of butter into a frying pan.

Dredge the chicken with flour and pepper and put into the hot frying pan and cook several minutes adding bits of butter, as needed. Add boiling water to cover, then cover and let simmer one to four hours according to the size of the chicken; cover tightly. A half hour before serving season with salt. A small piece of onion improves the flavor; it should be cooked with the chicken.

Creamed Calf's Brains.—Cover the brains with cold water and let soak over night. In the morning drain off all the water and cover with boiling water, cook for one-half hour. Drain off the water, separate the brains and skin them. Blend one tablespoonful of butter with an equal amount of flour and add a little milk. Stir and cook until smooth. Add salt and pepper to taste. Chop the brains and add them to the same. Cook for three or four minutes and serve immediately.

Carrots, fresh and crisp, ground through the fine knife of a meat grinder, added to salad dressing and served on lettuce make a most wholesome dish rich in mineral salts.

Chopped Bermuda onions, dressed with French dressing and used for a sandwich are most appetizing.

Bott's Mammoth sausages are the most highly prized as it grows very large leaves with the leaf stalks up from the soil, keeping them clean. The leaves are of fine flavor and much used in pork or pork sausage.

EASILY PREPARED BLACKBERRY DISHES.

There are two kinds of blackberries, of which the low bush or dew berry is the earliest to come into the market and is much more delicious than the later high bush blackberry.

For an early day pie, make a plain pie crust, line a deep pan and fill with sweetened fresh berries, cover with a top crust and bake. This makes a juicy pie which may be served with or without cream.

To keep the pie from boiling over and losing its juice, make a small paper funnel and stick into the top; the juice will boil up and fall back without wasting.

Blackberry Pudding.—Butter finger-sized pieces of bread and place in the bottom of a well-greased baking dish, cover with sweetened blackberries and repeat until the dish is full. Place in the oven and bake, serve either hot or cold with cream and sugar.

Blackberry Dumplings.—Stew a quart or two of the berries in a deep saucepan. When boiling have ready some soft biscuit dough cut out into circles and place over the top of the pan. Cover closely and steam until done. Do not let the biscuits rise to touch the cover. Serve hot with the berries as sauce.

Blackberry Jelly.—Dissolve one box of gelatin in a little cold water, add three pints of boiling water, the grated rind of one lemon and one orange, the juice of four oranges and one lemon. Let stand fifteen minutes, strain and add one quart of blackberries, pour into individual glasses and set in a cold place to harden. When ready to serve garnish with whipped

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago, three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would gather and break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if there was nothing that a woman could suffer. Then someone advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was cured and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. I also used your Compound during the Change, and I can do all my own work but the heavy part, and will make every day as I am a husband in the office."—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, California.

It is quite true that such troubles as Mrs. Meyer had may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource. On the other hand, a great many women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Claud Monte left Monday morning for Hot Springs, where she will spend the next several weeks in rest and healthful recreation.

Mr. A. G. Osoinach, the astute editor of the Gulfport Daily Herald, was a visitor to Bay St. Louis Tuesday afternoon, stopping at the home of his brother, Mr. John Osoinach.

Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, and little son, Bernard, left Monday morning for a week's stay with relatives at Ponchatoula, La., at the home of Mrs. Lacoste's father, prominent and well-known resident of that locality.

First annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women will be held in Washington, D. C., October 12th, 13th and 14th. Bay St. Louis federated societies will no doubt be represented.

Parties using the ferry over the bay will do well to take cognizance of the change in schedule to the effect that the trips will be made a last winter. Whenever the occasion demands, Captain Drackett, will put on special accommodations.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Hart, and the latter's mother and Mr. Henry Cuneo returned home Saturday night from a week-end trip by auto to Bogalusa, La., where they visited relatives. They report the roads in splendid condition and the trip delightful.

Mr. Leo Fahey, who is studying for the priesthood, after spending his vacation at home with his mother and her family, let's a few days since for St. Louis, Mo., to resume his studies at the seminary, near that city.

The big parade will start from Court House next Thursday morning, formally opening the two-day County Fair. Every automobile owner is invited to decorate their car in some manner and join the parade.

Mr. A. D. Ketchum, well-known resident of Birmingham, Ala., visited his brother, Mr. L. K. Ketchum and family in Carroll Avenue Sunday and Monday, delighted with his first visit to Bay St. Louis anticipates a return at earliest convenience. Mr. Ketchum is prominently connected with the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Mr. G. G. Gardeble was a visitor to his mother's home Sunday and Monday, having made the trip in his car from Poplarville, Miss., accompanied by his wife and infant daughter. Mr. Gardeble, who has been located at Laurel, Miss., for the past year in the office of one of the largest turpentine companies in the country, has returned to Poplarville, representing the same company. Bay St. Louis friends were glad to see him and his interesting family.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad had a force of workmen and a giant pile driver reinforcing the long bridge across the bay in front of this city. It is learned from semi-authoritative source that the railroad company is preparing to build the new bridge frequently spoken of, but actual work will not begin before 1927. The new bridge will be of a different type and its cost will be colossal.
